

SASSHER HUSBAND WANTED TO HAVE 2 WIVES IN ONE HOME

Mrs. Willard, in Separation
Suit, Tells of His Remarkable Domestic Proposal.

CHARGES DOUBLE LIFE.

Manufacturer Lived Secretly
With Girl Who Was Later
Slain, She Alleges

Through the filing in the Supreme Court to-day of a separation suit by Mrs. Elizabeth Hall Willard against Warren Hecce Willard, a wealthy manufacturer of bricks of the firm of C. T. Willard & Co., Inc., No. 110 East Twenty-seventh street, another story of a husband's dual life, paralleling in many features the careers of Loris Elton Rogers and Virginia J. Mayo, was brought to light.

Mrs. Willard accuses her husband of having lived for several years under the name of Joseph McCabe, a beautiful young woman, who was shot and killed under mysterious circumstances in 1908. She was known as Mrs. Frances McCabe, a wealthy brick manufacturer's wife.

Mrs. Willard also alleges her husband, shortly before "Mrs. McCabe's" death, tried to persuade her to allow "Mrs. McCabe" to live in the Willard home. He did this, she says, to save himself from marrying the young woman.

Another accusation made by the wife is that Willard has been accused by Dr. Israel Rosenthal, father of the dead girl, of having aided Samuel Mannes, who shot the girl, in making his escape.

Willard left with her and subsequently Mrs. Willard alleges, lived with Mrs. Rosenthal in an elegant apartment in Manhattan, until Mrs. Rosenthal was shot and killed.

Samuel Mannes, an acquaintance of the Rosenthal woman, was arrested for the shooting, taken to the hospital where Mrs. Rosenthal lay at the point of death, and was identified by her as the man who shot her. He was released on bail and a few days later disappeared.

In 1908, the wife alleges, her husband asked her to give him a divorce on evidence which, she says, he agreed to furnish her. He promised, she alleges, to give her and his son a joint allowance of $200 a month for the rest of her life and to educate the son. This offer led to the discovery by Mrs. Willard of her husband's duplicity. When she taxed him for his reason for wanting a divorce, Mrs. Willard swears, her husband told her he had promised to give her $200 a month as soon as he was divorced, though, she says he told her, he did not want to marry the girl.

Mrs. Willard agreed to get a divorce. Then Willard, she alleges, proposed that to avoid the cost of two separate establishments, Miss Rosenthal be permitted to become a member of the family and live in the Yonkers home. The girl was to be treated as a friend by Mrs. Willard. This proposition was rejected by Mrs. Willard.

One night, shortly after this episode, the wife alleges, Miss Rosenthal called at the Willard home and caused a scene. Mrs. Willard became reconciled to her husband and they made their home in the Yonkers house until last May, when Willard, she charges, left her.

Willard, in papers filed by his lawyer, John Holden of No. 141 Broadway, says he will not contest his wife's suit. He says he was forced to leave home because he could no longer endure her vituperation and uncontrollable temper. He says Mrs. Willard has made the charges involving Miss Rosenthal to injure his standing in society. Justice Newburger refused to strike from the record those charges and awarded Mrs. Willard $200 a month.

HEAVY MEAT EATERS HAVE SLOW KIDNEYS

Eat less meat if you feel Backache or have Bladder trouble.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid, which excites the kidneys; they become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood, then we get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, stop eating meat and get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which every one should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.—Adv.

Charge of the Fat Brigade Is in Full Swing; Now Is the Time to Reduce Waist Lines

"The One Thing to Do With Fat Is to Burn It Up," Says
Dr. Weizmiller, "That Means Good Hard Work. This Applies to Stout Ladies as Well as to Obese Men."

By Marguerite Mooers Marshall.

If you want a waistline work for it! That is the counsel to the corpulent offered by Dr. Louis R. Weizmiller, for twenty years physical director of the West Side Young Men's Christian Association and the "friend, inspirer, guardian and reward" of the New York fat man. Every year about two hundred living replicas of that favorite statuette, "Where's My Don?" were a successful fight on flesh, under the captaincy of Dr. Weizmiller. "Forward the heavy brigade!" has just been sounded for the first time in 1915, and several thousand pounds daily and nightly disport themselves in the big Y. M. C. A. gymnasium on Fifty-seventh Street off Eighth Avenue.

The floor was shaking with them, or seemed to be, when I called on Dr. Weizmiller yesterday afternoon and asked him if he had a real, sure-enough recipe for reduction. Let me at once assure the plump and pesonistic ladies who "have tried everything, my dear," that he has such a recipe. Whether they will feel that they want to try it when I get through repeating the ingredients is another matter. But Dr. Weizmiller has never seen it fail once, although hundreds of massive men have tested it under his direction.

"The one thing to do with fat is to burn it up," he stated categorically. "The way to burn it up is to do so many foot-pounds of good hard work every day. In this fashion the body is made to perspire freely, while the surplus tissue removed, while the muscles and general strength are built up. I have never known this method of reducing to fail with a man, and there is no reason why it shouldn't succeed with women, provided they stand the paff."

TAKING FLESH OFF IN GREAT SLABS. "I have one man here now," he continued, "who began work with me in the fall and who has already lost 95 pounds. Between Nov. 16 and March 12 he came down from 265 pounds to 210 pounds. Another man lost 119 pounds between June 30 and Feb. 1. Many have dropped from 30 to 40 pounds in six weeks or two months. Others have taken off a pound a day until they were down to normal weight."

"Of course I make no guarantee as to time. Reducing takes longer with some than with others. Getting fat may be compared to acquiring a bank account. In the beginning you have a certain sum, and if you add more to it than you take away your principal steadily increases. So with your body. You have, or should have, some fat in reserve. But if you proceed to take into the body more food and drink than you give out in energy the fat increases. And just as it takes longer to unload old investments than recent ones, so it takes longer to get rid of surplus tissue you have had a long time than of that which has been put on lately."

JUST HOW THEY LOSE THE TOO, TOO SOLID FLESH. "What sort of work do you give yourself as reducers?" I asked. "They do a great deal of gymnastic dancing," said the doctor, "including such dances as the hornpipe, the breakdown, barn dance or tarantella. They also skip rope, play handball, kick the medicine ball and work on the bicycling and rowing machines. The exercise with the medicine ball I consider especially valuable."

Stout women would be much benefited by all of these exercises. They are perfectly capable of reducing the muscles of the legs and trunk if they can be induced to do so. The trouble is that women who want to reduce go to the faddists instead of to the gymnasium. They wear rubber suits, or they take up massage, or they adopt a diet of lemon and seltzer, when what they really need is good hard work."

"Massage always seemed to me a way of letting the other fellow do the reducing for you," I observed. "It is, only it doesn't work," smiled Dr. Weizmiller. "In connection with exercise it sometimes helps in the removal of stubborn growths of tissue, but by itself it accomplishes little or nothing. The rubber clothes and the exaggerated dieting are likewise to be avoided. Steaming the body in the hot room of a Turkish bath removes weight, but it also removes strength. By our exercise the health and general condition of the body are improved, even while the weight is being taken off."

GOLF AS A FLESH REDUCER IS TOO SLOW. "How about athletic sports as reducers?" I interrogated. "If you play golf you probably won't get as fat as if you don't," admitted Dr. Weizmiller. "But the game won't take off much flesh, it's too leisurely. You take a shot, then you stroll slowly to your ball. Perhaps, on the way, you stop to have an argument about your form. Perhaps you lose the ball and wait until it is found before taking another shot. There isn't enough work in the game."

THREE REASONS WHY NEW YORKERS ARE NOT THIN. "Why are there so many fat persons in New York?" I asked. "For three reasons," he replied. "New Yorkers grow fat because so many of them are engaged in sedentary occupations, because they take little or no exercise and because the food here is so tempting. New York is the gourmand's paradise. Anything that one desires may be obtained, served in the most elaborate and appetizing fashion. There is a standing invitation to overeat and overdrink."

Mother's Quick Dash to Save Child. Mrs. John Newman, living at No. 295 Rivington Street, while hanging her washing out of the kitchen window at 10:30 this morning, saw smoke pouring out of her bedroom window, where her child, a month old, was sleeping in a crib. The mother got out of the window, and pulling herself over to the fire escape, jumped into the bedroom, snatched the child from the crib, and made a quick descent on the fire escape to the courtyard below. The fire engines quickly extinguished the blaze.

GRAND JURY HEARS GIRL'S STORY OF 'OLIVER OSBORNE'

Rae Tanzer's Lawyers Before
Same Body, but Refuse to Produce Letter.

"OLIVER" ISN'T AROUND.

Miss Kaiser Swears Her Admirer Wasn't Lawyer Accused by Rae Tanzer.

Rose Helen Kaiser, of No. 524 Mott Avenue, the Bronx, the new witness in the Rae Tanzer-James W. Osborne blood-broth of promises suit, testified before the Federal Grand Jury this afternoon. No did David and Maxwell Shale, of counsel for Miss Tanzer, who stands accused of using the mails in an attempt to defraud Mr. Osborne.

The Shales have a letter written to Miss Kaiser by one "Oliver Osborne," who, it is claimed by James W. Osborne, is the same Oliver Osborne that wooed Miss Tanzer. They have refused to give the letter to United States District Attorney Marshall or submit it to the Grand Jury which is considering the case against Miss Tanzer, and Mr. Marshall is figuring on putting on the screws of the law.

As for Oliver Osborne, he remains out of sight. District Attorney Marshall said today, however, that he has enough testimony on hand and enough money to make the presence of Oliver Osborne unnecessary. He considers it practically proved that there is an Oliver Osborne, and that he is not James W. Osborne.

The Government's eagerness to get hold of all these "Oliver Osbornes" letters is not explained. The charge against Miss Tanzer is using the mails illegally. This is based on letters she admits she wrote to James W. Osborne. Hence it is inferred the Government has something else in view, and it is known that certain evidence along other lines is being collected by Secret Service agents.

Trifling, Miss Kaiser's story is that she knew an Oliver Osborne, and he is not James W. Osborne, the lawyer. He told her he lived in the same part of California. Miss Kaiser says the man she knew claimed to live, he wrote her letters that are in the same writing as the statement given to James W. Osborne by Oliver Osborne, and similar to Oliver Osborne's signature on a Plainfield hotel register; he took her to the same restaurant to which Miss Tanzer says the man she knew took her, and he answers the charges. Mrs. Schiesinger, according to statements she made when arrested, had gone to the drug store of Harry Schiesinger, at No. 187 Myrtle Avenue, Ridgewood, to find him. According to the woman, she and Schiesinger, whose family name she assumed, had been intimately acquainted for some years, and she had looked up on him as a husband. They quarreled, and in the store last night, she asserts, she was roughly treated. She did not state that she intended any harm to him.

Mrs. Schiesinger is reported to have been left a fortune by her husband on condition that she remain unmarried a certain length of time and bear no children. She has a married daughter, it is said.

WILSON MAKES SICK CALL.

Pays Visit to Senator Shively, Who Has Been Ill Several Weeks.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—President Wilson today visited Senator Shively of Indiana, who has been ill for several weeks. The President rarely visits anyone.

Little Hope for Henry Varian. Henry Varian, of the World Business Staff, who was run down by a street car in Brooklyn early Sunday, was reported at the Prospect Heights Hospital to-day to have spent a "comfortable" night, and it was said that his condition remained unchanged. Mr. Varian has a compound fracture of the skull, fractures of the cheek bone, shoulder, elbow and five ribs. One of the fractured ribs pierced his right lung and may cause pneumonia, which would inevitably result in death. A temporary operation has been performed to relieve the pressure of the broken skull bones on the brain.

THERE are ways and ways of taking the "bite" out of tobacco. But there's one way to make tobacco cool and mellow, and still leave all the true tobacco taste and fragrance in it. That's Nature's way—the VELVET way.

When the best of Kentucky's Burley has received two years' careful curing, it takes on an aged-in-the-wood mellowness and becomes VELVET, The Smoothest Smoking Tobacco.

If you are "breaking in" a pipe, let VELVET'S mellowness "season" it. If your pipe is already "broken in," let VELVET bring out the best that's in it.

Description of the man who visited Lawyer Osborne.

W. J. Kitchen, proprietor of the Hotel Kensington, in Plainfield, came to New York yesterday, saw James W. Osborne, and declared positively he was not the "Oliver Osborne" who registered at his hotel in October with Mrs. W. Osborne, and left with room rent. Kitchen brought along the hotel register, and the Osborne writing is said to be the same as that in the Oliver Osborne letters.

Besides this evidence the Government has six witnesses now who have seen and described Oliver Osborne: Gilbert D. Lamm and Mr. Wilson of the Osborne law firm; Miss Kaiser, Mr. Kitchen, Mrs. Osborne and Lawyer Osborne himself. The Government also has samples of his writing; the Kaiser letters, the hotel register signature and the statement Oliver Osborne wrote intending to mail to James W. Osborne and later decided to deliver in person. This writing does not resemble that of James W. Osborne.

BURGLARS WITH CLEVER SCHEME WALK INTO TRAP.

Mistook Proprietor for Barker and Were Introduced to the Police.

Peter J. McArthur, twenty-eight, No. 12 Earl Street, and Roy Smith, seventeen, No. 108 Pacific Street, Brooklyn, devised a clever scheme, according to the police, to burglarize the saloon and cafe of Max Hartmann at Stuyvesant Avenue and Marion Street, Brooklyn.

Hartmann was relieving his bartender about 7 o'clock last night when the two young men came in and asked him how he would like to have them come in later that night, gag and blind him, cut away a $300 oil painting from behind the bar, rob the till and then split the proceeds with him later. They assured him that the proprietor need never suspect.

Hartmann thought it was an excellent scheme, but suggested 10 o'clock this morning as a time when there would be no rush on. The youthful burglars agreed to this and were accordingly taken into custody this morning by Detectives Kavanagh and Hart of the Seventh Branch Detective Bureau, with whom Hartmann had communicated last night. Smith confessed that he and his partner had burglarized the apartment of Frederick Becker, No. 344 42nd Avenue, Brooklyn, Feb. 27, securing $700 in cash and a quantity of jewelry. They were arraigned before Magistrate Reynolds this afternoon and waived examination.

SQUIRREL TIES UP TRAINS.

His Body Made a Short Circuit for Which He Was Broiled.

STAMFORD, Conn., March 22.—A large gray squirrel full of the joy of spring early yesterday tied up the New Haven branch of the N. Y. N. H. & H. R. R. It made the electric motor hapless and delayed New York commuters until locomotives could be sent from Stamford.

In frisking about on the electric feed wires near Glenbrook the squirrel body over an insulator in such a way that it made a short circuit, as a result of this the trolley wire was broken, leaving the line dead.

The squirrel was nicely broiled by electricity and proved to be fine eating.

EX-WARDEN M'CORMICK REAPPEARS IN YONKERS.

Former Sing Sing Official Who Vanished Passed Winter
in Stamford.

Thomas J. McCormick, formerly Warden of Sing Sing Prison, reappeared this afternoon in Yonkers, where he used to be in the plumbing and steam heating business before his troubles last autumn.

Mr. McCormick disappeared while the Crosby investigation was being made into his conduct as Warden of the prison. It was charged that he gave too many privileges, including joy rides in automobiles, to banker Daniel Sullivan, who was serving a term for his acts while in control of the Union Trust Company of Brooklyn.

Mr. McCormick admitted that he had been in Stamford during most of the time since he left Sing Sing, but declined to make any further statement until he should hear from investigators of Crosby.

He was seen at his office, No. 4 Wells Avenue, Yonkers, and it is understood that he intends to resume business there.

WHY IT IS RISKY To Have Clogged Nostrils

Have you pains over the right eye, pains over the left eye, pains across the front of the head? Do you take cold easily, sneeze a great deal? Do you sneeze until you become dizzy? Does first one nostril, then the other close? Have you a discharge from your nostrils? Are you losing your sense of smell? Are you losing your sense of taste? Do you sleep with your mouth open? Does your throat feel dry, as if sand was dusted over it? Does your throat tickle as if a horsehair had lodged in it? Do you have to be constantly clearing the throat? Have you a sensation like pins sticking in your throat? Are you losing flesh? Is your hearing failing? Have you unnatural sounds in the ears? Are these sounds like steam escaping or like water falling? Do your ears feel like they were stopped up? Does the ear wax harden in your ears? Do your ears discharge?

These are important questions for you to ask yourself. In one they indicate disease of the nose and throat, and in the other they indicate disease of the ears. In either case, it is a warning that you are losing your sense of smell, taste, and hearing. If you have any of these symptoms, you should see a doctor at once. If you have clogged nostrils, you should see a doctor at once. If you have clogged nostrils, you should see a doctor at once. If you have clogged nostrils, you should see a doctor at once.
